YALE'S SPRING PRACTICE.

Football Candidates Start Importan

Work This Afternoon. New Haven, April 7.—Spring football practice will start at Yale to-morrow and continue for two weeks. A punting contest will be held at the end of each day's practice. The practice will be of great importance because of the severe losses Yale will suffer by graduation. This ap-piles especially to the backfield, where all but two men will be lost.

New pays and formations in compliance with the new rules will be tried, and the work will undoubtedly count very materially toward the success of the season. Every one who expects to be a candidate for the 1907 eleven and who is at present engaged in no other athletic work has been asked to go to the practice. Fast men for the backfield and heavy men for the line are especially needed.

Springfield, Ohio, April 7.—Rain broke up a game here to-day between Washington and Springfield that should never have been started. When the deluge on had been retired and the first man was up for Springfield, the score was 4 to in favor of Washington.

It has been raining in Ohio for three days. Washington's exhibitions in Cininnati on Friday and in Dayton yesterday were called off because of the down our, and it rained here to-day until ecided to take a chance, and somewhere between 500 and 800 fans were on hand. It began to sprinkle in the third inning nd in the fourth a cloud that, to the ourists, had all the earmarks of a cy clone, let loose a terrific gust. The little grandstand shook, and almost a panic ensued when some one yelled, "There goes the roof!" The embryonic panic was goes the roof!" The embryonic panic was stilled when it was explained that the roof was of paper, and because it blew off. was not to say that a tornado or other major zephyr was invading the territory. Krauss and Brosnan both won prize money for individual high score for three games, Krauss rolling 591 and Brosnan 571.

The Corinthians, of New York, won the five-men championships. Tuthill and Nelson, of Brooklyn, won the two-men honors. Frank Sauer, of New York, was high in individuals. Voorheis, of Brooklyn, won the high average medal, with 2181-3 for nine games.

BASEBALL NOTES.

Efforts are being made to reorganize the team at Easton, Md.

Only three more days before the fans can yell to their hearts' content. It has been practically decided that Poolesville, Md., will not have a ball team n the field this spring.

Manager Kittredge, of Montreal, be-lieves that "Doc" Newton is the best pitcher in the Eastern League.

The Highlanders have decided to turn Pitcher Castleton back to the minors. He is not yet ripe for fast company. C. W. Boyer, of Hagerstown, has left for the South, to take charge of the South Atlantic League, of which he is president.

Tom Brown, of this city, will remain at Charlottesville until May 1, when he will probably take up a job as an umpire in one of the minor leagues.

was hit freely, but nothing could be told tion early this spring. It usually takes of his ability under the conditions.

Fielder Jones, the White Sox's manager, still insists that the coming season will be his last as a ball player. His wife is anxious to have him quit the game, and as practically all of his earnings on the diamond have been invested in oil wells, he is well provided for.

Jublice's rider, Radtke, was so sick that be could hardly sit in the saddle. Radtke will have been on his own courage. He certainly showed his gameness by fighting it out with Pen Cole.

Large Percentage of First Choices Win at Benning.

Two-year-olds, Usually the Most Consistent, Have Furnished Greater Number of Upsets Than Older Horses-Littlefield's Jubilee Probably Best Youngster This Season.

In one respect the Benning spring meetng has made a record. Out of seventytwo races run on the twelve days nearly 0 per cent have been won by favorites. This is a remarkable showing, and on hat seldom happens. Forty per cent of winning favorites is considered a winning percentage for bettors, and there are few race tracks in this country where the cause it is a spring meeting, when the horses are expected to show reversals of But while so many favorites have won, it is doubtful if the general public has any the better of the layers, for a majority of the winning choices have been at short prices, eleven of them having been at prohibitive figures.

Thirteen second choices got home in front, while twenty-four of the winners were long shots. As a rule, two-year-old were long shots. As a rule, two-year-out form is the most consistent, but there have been proportionately more surprises among the youngsters at the Benning track than among the older horses, no less than seven of the sixteen events for the babies being won by horses at odds of 15 to 1 or better.

Heresting additions to mis already big stable of pacers and trotters at Brightwood, in Florence Wilkes, 2:23%, owned by J. May Morrison, and Grace D., unmarked, owned by Amos Donaldson, of Georgetown. Both are pacers.

Two-year-olds Lack Class.

The two-year-olds that have shown at Benning are, perhaps, not as good as in former years. There has, in fact, not been what could be called a high-class two-year-old shown at the meeting, unless it be Jubilee, Fred Littlefield's Compute-Stefanette colt, who won both of promises to be better than a 2:20 proposito be good racers.

There are numerous prospects. August Belmont has a couple of good-looking colts that are sure to develop into at least useful performers. Both Oreodon and Mad Harry are horses above the average in looks. Oreodon is one of the raciest looking youngsters that has been seen out. He is a bay of unusually large frame, and really looks more like a three-year-old than a horse making his first year on the turf. Oreodon is a full brother to Okenite and Oleroso. John Whalen, who trains for Mr. Belmont, is reported to have said that Oreodon would the racing in the racing time in this part of the country, and last

Mad Harry is another Hastings colt hat ought to turn out well. He is a rim looking bee that has a lot of quality about him. He looks the racer all over,

Bresnahan, the Giants' backstop, has invented a new shin guard to be used by catchers. As soon as Jack Warner heard of the invention he ordered a pair.

Judging from his work in sbutting the St. Louis Nationals out with six hits. Jack Powell, of the Browns, is in condition early this spring. It usually takes hot weather to bring the big fellow around.

Mike Donlin's going into the actor business. Presumably Mike's chief duties will be to open the back door of the stage drawing-room and announce: "M'lord, the carriage waits!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

There is every indication that if the weather is favorable on Thursday one of the largest crowds that ever attended an opening game in Washington will be at National Park to welcome Joe Cantillon and his new Nationals.

Fielder Jones the White Sox's manager.

Miller's auspension gave the other jock-eys at Benning a chance to catch up with him in the matter of winning mounts, but with the sole exception of Joe Johnson they falled to do it. John-Joe Johnson they failed to do it. Johnson now is tied with Miller, but there is every reason to believe that before the meeting ends next Saturday, Miller will have regained the lead, for he will have the choice of mounts. Miller will be back in the saddle this afternoon, and will remain through the meeting. Had Radtke not been taken ill he doubtless would have topped Miller's record, for he had begun to get back to his old form when he got sick. McDaniel is close up to the leaders with eight winners, while Mountain has seven victories to his credit.
